

Lois the Local

"Science!"

Age: 19

Work: Student

Location: Toronto, Ontario

Carefree

Lives close to the University

Bio

Lois is a student attending the University of Toronto, and lives 10 minutes away from campus. She could not care less if her classes were early, late, or anywhere in between. Unlike Commuting Charlie, or Working Willie, she has no real preference for when her classes are, as she can head on home when she isn't occupied with school. Lois only cares that she can somehow fit the courses that she wants into her schedule.

Goals

- Wants to be able to quickly schedule all the courses she wants without any restrictions to time
- Would prefer if courses were scheduled close together but doesn't mind if they are spread out
- Would like to pick her lecture sections so that she can attend classes with specific instructors, or with her friends

Frustrations

- Sitting on Griddy figuring out which courses she can take that don't overlap with each other
- Spending more time scheduling courses than would otherwise be required