

Willie the Worker

"I never knew being fat and lazy was so rewarding."

Age: 22

Work: Student, Librarian

Location: Scarborough, Ontario

Works mornings

Average commute time

Bio

Willie is a 22 year old student attending the University, who spends certain hours of the day working off campus. When course enrolment begins, he must find courses that don't overlap with his work schedule while leaving enough time for his commute. Willie tries to schedule his courses close together, so he can avoid spending more time at school than he has to. He hopes this will leave him more time for work and other activities.

Goals

- Spend less time scheduling courses
- Spend less time figuring out which courses he can take based on his work schedule

Frustrations

- Manually checking which courses fit into his available time slots
- Having courses spread out across the day, limiting his free time to participate in extracurricular activities